Transfer contacts using Bluetooth™

This guide shows you how to transfer contacts from your old phone to your new Xperia™ device using Bluetooth™. The method described below works for transferring contacts from both Sony and non-Sony devices as long as they both support Bluetooth™.

How it works

Bluetooth™ is a wireless technology standard for sending and receiving data over short distances. You can use Bluetooth™ to send contacts from your old phone and your new Xperia™ device. Below is a general overview of the process:

1. Enable Bluetooth™ on both devices.
2. Select all contacts on your old phone and confirm that you want to send them to your new Xperia™ device.
3. Confirm the transfer on your new device to import the contacts.

How to do it

Note! The procedure to turning on Bluetooth™, sending contacts, and receiving contacts depends on the brand and model of the device. See the manual for your old phone and the manual for your new device for more specific instructions.

On old phone:

1. Turn on Bluetooth™ on your old phone. Turning on Bluetooth™ is usually done in the Settings or Connections menu.
2. Start the Phone book application. This application may also be called Address book, Contacts, People, or something similar.
3. Select all contacts. Selecting all contacts is usually done by using the Contacts application menu.

On new Xperia™ device:

4. Turn on Bluetooth™ on your new Xperia™ device. Turning on Bluetooth™ is usually done in Settings menu.
5. Make your new device visible to other Bluetooth™ devices. This is usually done in the Bluetooth™ menu. The new device will only be visible for other devices for a short period of time. You may have to repeat this step if the Bluetooth™ visibility times out.

On old phone:

6. Send the contacts from your old phone using Bluetooth™. Sending contacts is usually done in the Contacts application menu.
7. Select your new Xperia™ device as the receiving device.

On new Xperia™ device

8. Accept the file on your new Xperia™ device.
9. Open the received file.
10. Select the account to which you want to save your contacts. Once saved, the contacts will become available on your new device.

The contacts from your old phone will now be available in the Contacts application on your new Xperia™ device.
